

MDENet Annual Symposium – December 1st & 2nd

Call for travel and accommodation expenses

On December 1st and 2nd, MDENet will be hosting its inaugural Annual Symposium at King's in London. This free event will be an excellent opportunity for anybody (potentially) interested in MDE to learn more about it, meet members of the community, make new connections and explore potential new collaborations. There will be a range of keynote talks on MDE and its applications in various domains as well as tutorials and challenge talks.

MDENet is happy to be able to provide support for attendees who do not have alternative sources of funding their cost of attendance. We have a limited fund available to travel and accommodation for the purposes of attending the annual symposium – typically to a maximum of £300 per person, though smaller requests are very welcome. So, if you are a participant or an attendee, please apply to our travel and accommodation fund.

Expenses considerations for externals

3 star hotel (AirBnB not allowed);

Economy class flights or economy train;

(Economy Plus is still not economy – be careful)

To apply, you can fill out this form, where you will include your information, as well as a brief budget description. We will quickly assess the proposal and get back to you.

Deadline for submissions: 25th November.
